PRINCIPAL'S MESSAGE

To the Class of 1970:

You are the first class to graduate from Wellesley Senior High School as it enters its second century. Your parents, your teachers, and your friends all join in the hope that the years you have spent in Wellesley Senior High School have contributed much to a better understanding of yourselves and the society of which you are an important part. May this understanding continue to grow no matter what path you pursue toward reaching your goal.

Never before have so many of your generation shown a greater awareness of the shortcomings in our society. Some have tried to right these shortcomings by destructive means and such tactics are to be deplored, for no good can come by tearing down, but only from building up. As you face your future firmly resolve to be on the side of the builders and not the destroyers!

Benjamin Franklin once said: "The noblest question in the world is what good may I do in it." Heed these words and, if you do, the world will be a better place because you are in it."

Goodbye and Good Luck!

EDITORS' MESSAGE

Every senior class likes to think that it has had the greatest influence in improving the high school. Our class is no exception. A desire to improve the high school was a direct result of our growing up in an era of social turmoil and change. As individuals, we could no longer accept the existing social, political, and economic structures without questioning them. This serious exploration of social structures had a profound influence on the educational system, affecting both teachers and students.

An exciting change took place this year when students and the new administrators began to work together on such new programs as free studies, seminars, senior independent studies, and curriculum committees. Many of the activities that our class of 1970 introduced into the mainstream of the high school were initiated by former classes. Just as we have benefited from the preceding classes, so students who will graduate following us will reap the benefits of our programs.

Each class has to develop a feeling of unity within itself. The social cliques which existed in previous years were somewhat broken down. Consequently, there developed a greater effort at working together, and the class experienced a great amount of financial success as a result.

There is much left to be done by the classes in the next decade. Only a quarter of our class was active in some areas of the school. Hopefully, a larger number of students will become involved in school activities and administration in the future. Nevertheless, our class recognized the need for reform within the high school and began to act. We saw that for a high school to become a part of the seventies, teaching methods and student attitudes would have to change with the times.

Time is but the stream I go a-fishing in. I drink at it; but while I drink I see the sandy bottom and detect how shallow it is. Its thin current slides away, but eternity remains. I would drink deeper; fish in the sky, whose bottom is pebbly with stars. I cannot count one. I know not the first letter of the alphabet. I have always been regretting that I was not as wise as the day I was born.

Aloof and lighthearted I take to the open road.
Healthy, free, the world
before me,
The long brown path before me,
heading wherever I choose.

WALT WHITMAN

"How can we be sure of anything the tide changes.
The wind that made the grain wave gently yesterday blows down the trees tomorrow.
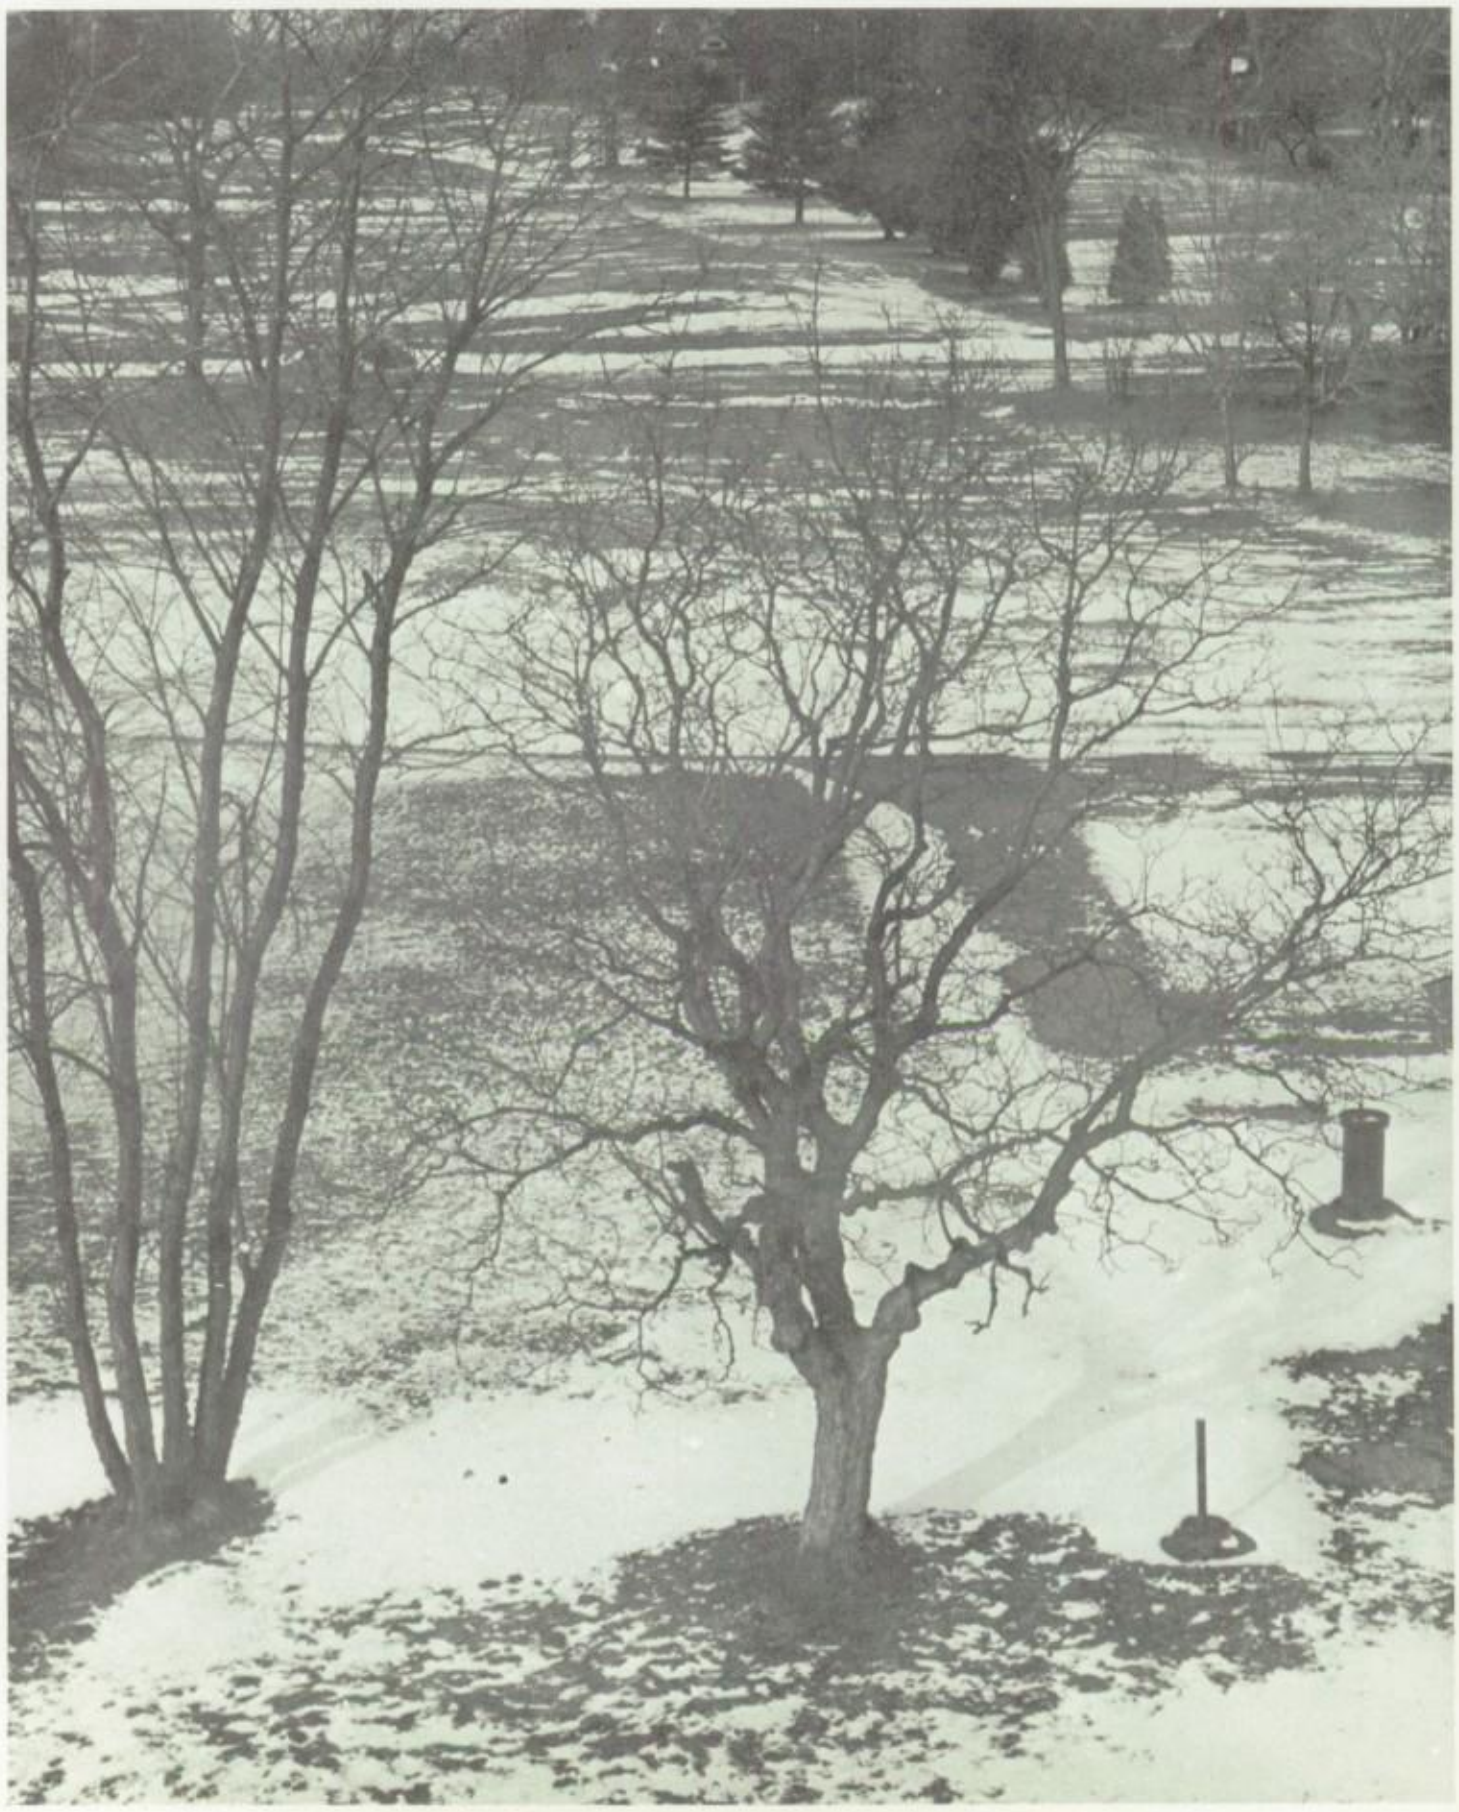
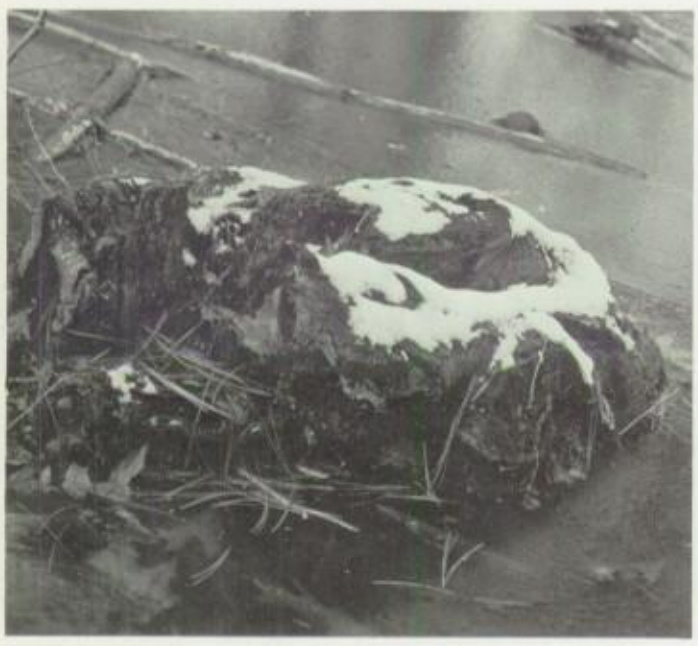
And the sea sends sailors crashing on the rocks,
as easily as it guides them safely home."

ROD McKUEN

Perhaps what most moves us in winter is some reminiscence of far-off summer . . . What beauty in the running brooks! What life! What society! The cold is merely superficial; it is summer still at the core, far, far within.

HENRY DAVID THOREAU





Each new year is a surprise to us. We find that we had virtually forgotten the note of each bird, and when we hear it again it is remembered like a dream, reminding us of a previous state of existence. How happens it that the associations it awakens are always pleasing, never saddening; reminiscenses of our sanest hours?

FOOTBALL

After a slow start this year, the Red Raider football team rallied near the end of the season and produced two stunning victories over Natick and Needham to finish with a 4-5 record.

It wasn't easy for the Wellesley team to repeat their performance as Champions of the Bay State League, but they produced great efforts, despite the loss of key players through graduation and a stronger opposition in the League.

At times, the Wellesley offense was a well-oiled machine. Led by Quarterback Jeff Spilman, the unheralded front line including, Bob Wright, Chris Halligan, Steve Sutherland, Jim Farrell, and Brian Hamilton, would open up holes for backs Adams, Parr, and Powell. Defensively, the Wellesley eleven would rarely budge except at Walpole and Braintree. Hugh Johnston, Pete Nahass, Jack Watkins, and David Copplestone formed a tough wall. They were backed up by Bob Parr, Ace Adams, Mike Brew, Steve Allen and Bob Borgatti.

For the Wellesley High Varsity Soccer team, this season proved the most productive in many years. When the final game was over, Wellesley had posted an 11-2-1 record. Led by coach Davis, who is a veteran soccer coach but a new member of the High school faculty, the Red Raiders put a spark in the fall season by trouncing most of its victims. On hand to witness the games were the largest crowds ever to watch Wellesley soccer. Cheerleaders, students, parents and scouts crammed the sidelines to voice their support of the team.

Wellesley had a well balanced club. The offensive threat included Donahue (high-scorer), Stoddart, Keefe, Beaumiar, and Shack. They were backed up by Rau (State All-State), Dalrymple, Patton, Brown, Himmelburger and Brown.

CROSS-COUNTRY

In what began as a very promising season, the Varsity Cross-Country team suffered several setbacks and finished 4th in the Bay State league with a 6-3 record. Although there was an abundance of talent, key injuries to important runners left the team vulnerable. However, there were many individual accomplishments that highlighted the season. Jeff Dosdall won five out of the first six meets and Jim Regan, Charlie Lindsey, Brian Cass, Bruce Olsen and Steve Harunk all bettered their own previous course times.

Coach St. Cyr has a strong nucleus to work with next year as Juniors Jeff Taggart, and Brian Cass, and Super-Sophomores Bruce Olsen and Steve Harunk return.

The Girls' Swim Team once again completed a very successful season with an overall team record of 7-2-1. A shortened season, due to the change from a winter to fall sport, had little effect on the team's record smashing season. Out of the twelve events in a regular meet, new team records were set in nine events, and league records were set in four. A team record was set by Nancy Ballard, Debbie Kelsch, Barb Kelly, and Julie McVicker in the 200 yard medley. Sophomores Nancy Ballard and Sue Johnston set new team records in the 100 yard backstroke and the 400 yard freestyle respectively, while Junior Libby Piper set the record in the 200 yard free style. Barbara Kelly set a team record in the 50 yard butterfly and also a team and league record in the 25 yard freestyle. Seniors Nancy Parry and Debbie Kelsch both set team and league records in diving and the 100 yard breaststroke respectively. Kathy Murry, Kanren Buraczynski, Kibby Piper and Captain Edie Haffenreffer set a new meet record at the State Championships in the 400 yard freestyle relay. The excellent performance of all of the girls on the team was what gave the team such a fantastic season.

An unusually lively banquet was held at Ken's Steak House at the conclusion of the season and honored, among others, the departing Seniors. The team awards were presented as follows: Senior Bowl—Debbie Kelsch, Most Valuable Swimmer—Barb Kelly, Most Valuable Diver—Julie McVicker, Most Improved Swimmer—Eileen Crowley.

FIELD HOCKEY

The Field Hockey team, under the supervision of Coach Karen Perry, started out its season with six straight shut-outs in a row. Unfortunately the five remaining games were against the league's strongest teams. Their first league loss (1-0) occurred against Framington South when the girls couldn't muster up enough teamwork and scoring ability to conquer their opponents. The team next encountered Needham in a game which was undoubtedly Wellesley's best. Mel Littleton, Sue Davis, and Sherri Beebe repeatedly swung the ball down the field and came up with three fantastic goals. The defense, led by Co-captains Joy Mitten and Debbie Fulham, Debbie Dalton, Barbara Dacey, and goalie Karen Egasti, kept Needham's score down to two goals. Needham was previously undefeated.

Wellesley's last two games were somewhat disappointing despite a powerful attempt by the offense as well as defense. They fell to Walpole 2-1 and tied Dedham 1-1 ending up in third place.

The J.V.'s had a 5-3-3 season. Although it was not as successful as hoped, the team worked well together led by Co-captains Jennifer Drake and Ann Wilson.

Jill Scholten . . . tired but happy.

OPENING EXERCISES

This year, under the direction of Mrs. Fitzpatrick, the Opening Exercise Club has attempted to present a program that is more meaningful to the students and to the faculty. Not all reactions were favorable ones, but students and teachers were stimulated into thinking about many urgent problems and, on this basis, the club's activities were successful.

DRAMA CLUB

The lights dim and the curtain falls on a year of successful activities. This year, the Drama Club has covered a wide variety of the theater's many facets. Field trips ranged from the classical, Twelfth Night, to Two if by Sea, a modern rock musical. Speakers such as Hugh Hill have done a one man show for us. A professional make-up lady worked with us, demonstrating make-up techniques for our production of Midsummer Night's Dream. Including such informal events as one-act plays, improvisations, and the poetry reading—we had a very eventful year!

FASHION CLUB

The Fashion Club originated in the fall of 1969 with the aim of organizing all students interested in fashion. Some of the highlights of the club included professional speakers in the fields of photography, hair care, charm, modeling, and cosmetics. Through these lectures, demonstrations, and discussions, members were able to develop their individual tastes and talents. In the spring they gave a fashion show, which was successful by the combined efforts of all members.

KEY CLUB

As an all boys club, the Key Club is sponsored by the Kiwanis as a service club. Made up of forty-one boys, the Key Club performs various activities for the school and community. The board members play an important role as leaders and organizers while delegating responsible areas to Key members.

The Key Club works co-operatively with the Junior Red Cross to sponsor and attend retarded childrens parties at the Perrin School. Revenues for the parties came from the Key Club concession stand at the football games, the Key Club Dance and various fund raising drives.

Weekly meetings are held in the Keynote room at Howard Johnson's with a member of Kiwanis and the advisor Mr. Campbell.

FOLK CLUB

With music-making and appreciation as its aim, the Folk Club began its second year of existence. The fall sessions were small and unstructured, allowing guitarists, recorder players, banjo-pickers, and singers to take part in a small folk festival. A group was formed of Folk Club members and outsiders to go and hear Arlo Guthrie at his Tufts University concert. To help beginning musicians and those who wished to learn new songs or play in groups, a program of workshops was created. Folk music, national and international, in its many forms, was explored, and all could participate in the singing.

This year's Junior Red Cross Club has experienced one of its most successful years. The club, consisting of thirty active members, undertook many projects involving the mentally retarded, mentally ill, hospitalized, and poor. In order to cover each area sufficiently, the club was divided into sections where certain girls devoted their time solely to one project.

One group worked in the occupational therapy section of Medfield State every Tuesday. Whether they worked with art, which included copper enameling, painting, drawing, dancing, and music, or with a service project such as wrapping Christmas packages for other patients, the girls found it beneficial to talk on a one-to-one basis with the patients. These activities gave the girls an opportunity to understand better an individual's specific problems.

On Thursdays, several girls went to Perkin's School for the Blind to supervise the playground for handicapped children. Other projects included candy-striping at Newton-Wellesley Hospital, holding a party for the retarded children of Wellesley, sponsoring a dance for the Charles River School for retarded adults, and running a fund-raising drive to aid disaster victims outside of Wellesley.

FUTURE TEACHERS OF AMERICA

The Future Teachers of America Club, under the guidance of the advisor, Mrs. Sandra White, had its most active and worthwhile year. Members were given the opportunity to discover and investigate the many phases of education by teaching at the Kingsbury, Phillips, and Hunnewell elementary schools, and at the Junior High School. Field trips to specialized schools and visits by guest speakers were arranged in order to gain a better understanding of the various fields offered in the realm of education.

JUNIOR CLASSICAL LEAGUE

The Olympians are a chapter of the Junior Classical League which is a national organization sponsored by the American Classical League. The purpose of J.C.L. is to foster programs which will help secondary school students appreciate the ancient civilizations of Greece and Rome. Membership is open to any student of Latin in our school. Chapter meetings are held the first Monday evening of each month in the school auditorium. Programs include such activities as slave auctions; Olympic Games; Saturnalia banquets; dramatics; open house and guest speakers. This year, the group is inaugurating a program of European travel with a spring vacation on Rome. Delegates have been sent to the National Convention. Wellesley's J.C.L. Chapter is also affiliated with the Massachusetts Junior Classical League which sponsors an annual convention in May and arranges interschool activities.

SOME CHILDREN ARE . . .

Some children are brown
like newly baked bread,
some children are yellow and some are red,
some children are white and some almost blue
Their colors are different—the children like you!

Oh, if they could dance and if they could play
altogether together
a wonderful day!
Some could come sailing and some could just hike!
So much would be different—the children alike!

N.C.C.J.

N.C.C.J. (National Conference of Christians and Jews) is a civic organization engaged in a nation-wide program of intergroup education. It enlists Protestants, Catholics and Jews, who, without compromise of conscience or of their distinctive and important religious differences, work together to build better relationships among men of all religious races, and nationalities. Its operation is civic and social although obviously, the roots of the brotherhood which it seeks to build are in moral laws and in religious faiths.

This year the N.C.C.J. helped sponsor The Metco-Wellesley Student Faculty Discussions. And experimented with group sensitivity training. As in previous years, we raised money through bake sales, sent members who were financially incapable to camp Tel Noar. Our main goal, however, is to promote better human relations.

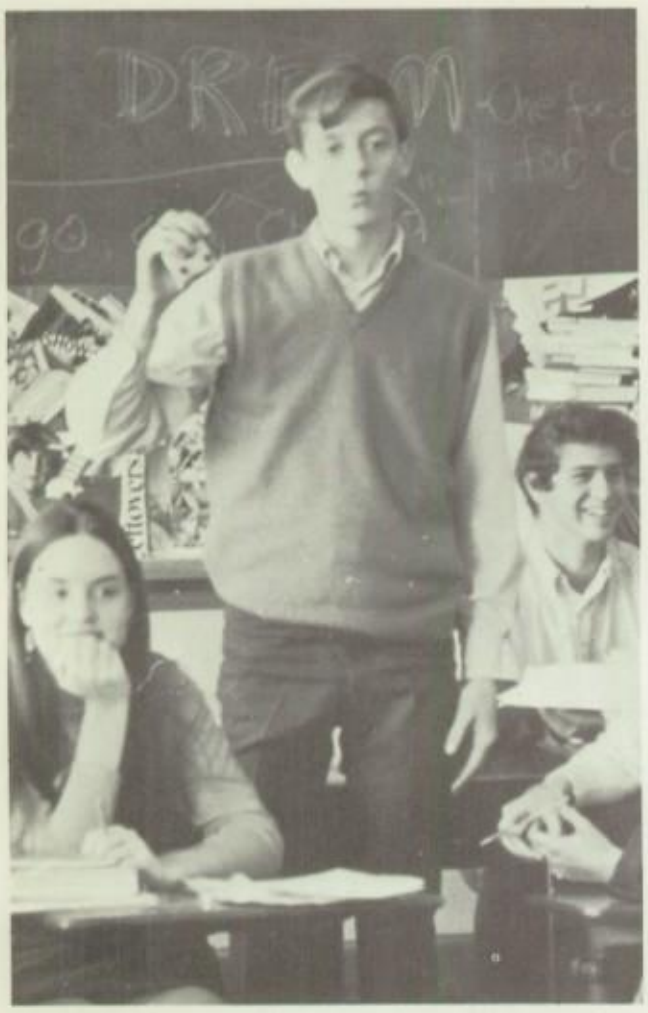
STUDENT COUNCIL



President Jeff Sagansky

Student Council interests and priorities perhaps underwent the most extensive examination and redirection in Council history. There were programs undertaken not to raise money but toward curriculum reform and the stimulation of the High School enviroment. Thus, projects including the Curriculum study and concerted drive for another art teacher, organized feedback (i.e. teacher evaluation), student activities center, seminars, Independent Study for Seniors (to go into effect January of 1971), Free Studies, and Metco-Wellesley-Administration-Faculty discussion groups were successfully pursued. And the Council went beyond the school situation when the rewards of doing so seemed to warrant the moves: Youth Center at the Intermediate Building, Student Supplement Program, Hike for Hunger, and promotion of student work in the Boston area. To many members and observers, Council was no longer a game to play and a role to assume, but rather a set of tangible goals at which to aim—a place in the educational system and process that was rightfully the students'.

CURRICULUM REPORT

Last year, the Student Council initiated the Curriculum Committee which was again active this year. This group included both Council members and non-members. The Curriculum Committee studied present course offerings and facilities, budget requests and grants. They interviewed department heads, teachers, and students. A report was issued which included their findings and recommendations for change.

The findings of the Student Council Curriculum Committee compared closely with those of the 1968 Visiting committee. This latter group of teachers from the New England Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools summarized their findings in this way:

> Unquestionably, the Wellesley High School has an excellent academic program for the college-bound student. However, the Visiting Committee was concerned with two significant developments:
> (1) the inadequate curriculum for non-college students, and
> (2) the imbalance between the "academics" and the "fine arts" . . . It was also the Visiting Committee's judgement that insufficient attention was being given to broadening the intellectual horizons of students.

The Student Council Curriculum Committee confirmed these same findings. Certainly the Wellesley school system has had a fine reputation, and because of that system many people choose to live in Wellesley. However, it is hardly correct to assume that the non-academic courses, cultural subjects, and courses for the non-college-bound students come close to the standards that the town takes pride in. Due to the funds that the town has refused to appropriate to the areas of music, industrial arts, and art at the high school, the Visiting Committee in 1968 was urgently concerned with the discrepancy between the academics and the fine arts. The Curriculum Committee for the past two years has pointed out this discrepancy and reccommended changing the situation. Yet, the same unfortunate conditions still exists.

The Curriculum Committee felt that the town of Wellesley should reconsider its priorities and recognize the needs at the high school. It urged the town to comply with the department's requests, for the first time in so many years. But, above all, it evoked an awareness that was long overdue.

A Student Council meeting.

STUDENT SUPPLEMENT PROGRAM

Conceived and implemented this year, the Student Supplement Program appears destined for unprecedented success. Each week, some eighty students tutored and worked with elementary pupils during several of their study periods. Andy Chester, Gail Gentes, Lenny Learner and Jeff Sagansky, under the sponsorship of the National Honor Society, Student Council, and Central Council P.T.A. developed and co-ordinated this project in five Wellesley grammer schools: Brown, Hardy, Sprague, Schofield, and Fiske. Students worked early in the morning and were bussed back to the High School by a town mother. Other students worked the last period of the day.

"SIX FEET UNDER"

After several previous unsuccessful attempts, enough support was mobilized this year to acquire a youth center. Through the efforts of Selectman Juliani, the Community Chest, Whitney Cranshaw and Student Council, the basement of the Intermediate Building was cleared by the town for use. Work began to refinish it in early January. Recognizing the need for active student involvement in such a project, a Youth Center Steering Committee was formed which coordinated work done on the basement, formulated rules, appealed for donations, and planned activities.

Work was done steadily on the Youth Center, which was clubbed "Six Feet Under" by a majority of students, during the two months prior to opening. After serving twenty years as storage space, the basement required a massive clean-up: removing dust, scrubbing walls and floors and chipping paint. However, weekend and vacation crews of students did all the work except for a few areas requiring expert help such as painting and carpentry.

"Six Feet Under" was created to serve a variety of purposes. Reading, television, and relaxing are provided for. There is room for games, pool and ping-pong. There is a room for music and live entertainment. There is also a room for after school seminars on student interests. It is an attempt to close the gap in Wellesley of recreational facilities for High School students and its success will also be success for student management as well as for student recreation.

SEMINAR DAYS

In what was received by students as a welcome variation to the educational norm, November 13 and 14 were set aside for seminar activities. Well over one hundred different activities were packed into the two day schedule and choices one made as to spending one's time were often difficult. More so than at any other time, students were provided with the opportunity to pursue interests not normally taken up in class work. The results were encouraging.

The day began differently, as music replaced bells. Greater flexibility in scheduling allowed time segments of activities to conclude naturally, without a rigid timetable. The air of freedom permeating the school during these two days bolstered attendance, creating a rather ebullient spirit, and gave rise to optimism that seminars would, in time, become a more integral part of educational activities.

Indeed, much of the program was coordinated by a relatively small group of students. Working out of Room 222, Steve Genovese, Kate McGee, Joel Plagnez, Jeff Sagansky, and Jane Strauss spent weeks pursuing possible activities, contacting and finalizing speakers and programs, scheduling and rescheduling. It was a major effort, judged by all to have been a success.

BASKETBALL

Basketball fortunes at Wellesley High just weren't very good this year. The basketball team could only manage one win in eighteen games of Bay State League competition. The players gave their all, but too many things were working against the team.

Two injuries put a big handicap on the team's chances. Doug Stoddard broke his leg before the season. A serious hip problem caused big Mike Golden to miss all of the second half of the season. Both of these men would have added some extra needed punch in both the scoring and rebounding columns.

Seniors backboned the efforts of this year's squad. Ray Byrrd played very capably as a guard. Most of the rebounding and inside scoring came from Mark Laux. His performances steadily improved as the season wore on. Charlie Lindsey and Pete Nahass were the other two seniors on the team. Mouse was known for his long set shots while Pete covered the boards.

In retrospect, the year had to be considered a rebuilding year. Several underclassmen made significant contributions to the Red Raiders' efforts this season. Golden, when he was healthy, was part of the starting five, and John Wornum, John Clark, and John Hornaday started several games each during the season. All of these ballplayers improved as the year moved along and should be even better next year after a season of experience.

Jack Tracy, a sophomore center, Steve Allen, and Ace Adams saw considerable action during the course of the year. All were underclassmen and at times showed flashes of brilliance that could cause excitement next year. Allen and Tracy played underneath while Adams was a guard.

Hustling Tom McHugh, Bill Bossange, and Tom Lubker rounded out the team. These guys usually came in late in the game as subs, but their spirit and determination were so good that by the end of the year they were effective enough to come in at any time. Their brand of basketball generated some excitement in what seemed at times to be a very long year.

Coach Jack McDermott built a team for next year. Only four seniors were part of his squad. This gave him a chance to develop quite a few younger players. Unfortunately, they were not able to win as many games as they would have liked. Several bad breaks made it tough for things to jell, but they did what they could and tried hard.

GIRLS' BASKETBALL

The Girls' Basketball team, led by Coach Christine Eulian and Co-Captains Mel Littleton and Debbie Villa, had a very rough season, but at least they learned from their mistakes. After losing all but one of last year's first string (who placed #1 in the Bay State League), the team made a great effort to compensate for that loss.

The non-league opener with Lincoln-Sudbury (42-40) taught the team a great deal, and the girls used that knowledge to beat Natick by a score of 41-17. In the next game versus Walpole, Wellesley couldn't work as a team long enough to muster up points to win. Bouncing back from this loss though, the Raiders managed to squeak by Norwood 47-42 and once again Wellesley gained back some much-needed confidence. But the next eight games smothered Wellesley's spirit and chances for a first or second place in the BSL. Perhaps the best of these games was against rival Weston. The team only lost by seven points in the final quarter, and the fine efforts of Mel Littleton, Debbie Villa, Sherri Beebe, Liz Becker, Anne Navoni, Anne Lederhos and Karen Egasti almost succeeded in conquering Weston. Backing up these players were Debbie Fulham, Jill Scholten, Nancy Waltz, Sue Davis, Fran Kinkead, Anne Wilson, and Trish Johnson.

The Junior Varsity came up with a 2-9-1 season under the leadership of Co-Captains Jan Duddy and Nancy Thurrell.

WRESTLING

Captain Hugh Johnston did it all for the wrestlers this year. He had a 28-0 record personally which included for the top spot in the district and state meets in his weight class. Hugh was named outstanding wrestler in both of these competitions.

Besides Hugh the whole wrestling team had a very strong year. The team compiled a league record of 7-2, but a question of eligibility cost the team some of the meets it had won. This unfortunate incident cannot dim the several fine performances turned in throughout the year by the Wellesley grapplers.

Steve Snow, Dave Paltrineri, and Pete Caruso, along with Bob Brown competed in the state finals. Paltrineri, a junior, finished fourth in the State. He lost only to the state champ in the semi-final round. Another junior, Pete Caruso, wrestled his way into the big meet. He lost in the first round, but he wrestled quite well against the defending champ. Bob Brown, a tough wrestler at 145, lost in the quarter finals, but that couldn't diminish his fine job.

Snow must be one of the big stories of the year. An unknown at the beginning of the year, he progressed into being Wellesley's number two grappler. In the sectional tournament, he turned what looked like a defeat into a victory with a pin. Snow advanced all the way to the finals before he bowed. His loss in the finals was only his third loss in the whole year.

Jeff Strathern and Curt Audin were the two light wrestlers for Wellesley. The infamous Fairneny brothers, Mike and Steve, were top wrestlers throughout the season. Bob Parr, Bart Van Dissel, Roy Garron, George Martin, Pete Hamel, and Joe Spano performed consistently well in their respective weight classes.

Both Hugh Johnston and Steve Snow were victorious in their opening round matches of the New England wrestling meet. They then went on to win in their respective weight divisions, a pair of outstanding achievements.

HOCKEY

Flashes of brilliance and excitement marked a season that produced four wins and three ties against eleven defeats. Although this record only provided a seventh place finish, many factors have to be considered. This was a young team in the very tough Bay State League.

Wellesley knocked off Framington North, Milton, Braintree, and Natick. Norwood, Milton, and Framington North were tied. The Norwood tie and the first loss to Needham probably should be classified as the best games of the year. Norwood was considered a very strong team, and Needham ended its season with an undefeated record. Although Wellesley fell 4-0 to Needham, the Red Raiders played a great game. They gave up only two goals in the first two periods and never let Needham take over the game. Several near brawls marked the second period, and Wellesley was handed many penalties. However, great goaltending and defense held Needham to one goal despite the large number of shots.

Senior Chris Hurley turned out to be Wellesley's scoring ace as was expected. Hurley fired in a great percentage of Wellesley's goals during the course of the year. All during his high school career, Chris made a big contribution to the Red Raider hockey teams.

When Hurl was not scoring himself, he was feeding Wellesley's other top shooters Tim Maples and Tom Horack. These two underclassmen were fine skaters and shooters, and should form the nucleus of next year's first line.

Dave Kerivan centered the second line. Leo Doherty and Bob Kinlin were the forwards on this line. They were especially strong in the first Needham game. Seniors Paul Ishkanian and Bob Pierson played on both lines, and handled a tough job well.

Senior Don Dalrymple and Junior Jeff Taggart manned the nets, capably stopping most of what came their way. Both Dalrymple and Taggart played a great game against Needham, handling a barrage of shots. The defense was also characterized by youth and inexperience. Bruce Doyle was the only senior in this year's crop. Rick Kerivan, Dan Sullivan, and Tom Sexton will all return next year.

This year's squad was young, and it was possible to watch its growth. They had a poor start, but things started clicking at the end of the year as the team had time to work together. In the coming season this year's experience and playing time should be valuable.

BOYS' SWIM TEAM

Sixth place in the Eastern Massachusetts swim meet capped a remarkably fine year for the Wellesley swimmers. Many individuals had outstanding seasons, and their combined performances helped to make this year a big year. The relay teams really produced all during the season.

The record in both the 200-yard Medley Relay and the 400-yard Freestyle Relay was broken during the course of the season. On the night that Wellesley defeated Brokton 70-25, both relay teams broke the Wellesley record for that event. In the EMass. meet the Medley Relay team of John McAvoy, Dave Patten, John Mumford, and Dave Porter placed fifth, while the 400-yard Freestyle Relay team with Dave Patten, Sam Levine, Skip Sullivan, and Doug Bennett finished fourth.

Captain Dave Patten swam to a fourth place spot in the 50-yard Freestyle race in the EMass. meet. Patten was probably the best all around swimmer for Wellesley this year. He competed on both relay teams plus swimming in his individual event.

Porter and McAvoy were two other outstanding swimmers for Wellesley. Porter stroked in the 50 and 100-yard freestyle races and did double work on the relay teams. As a backstroker, McAvoy added many important wins to the Wellesley score throughout the year plus being a member of the Medley Relay team.

Other seniors who added considerably were John Mumford, Bob Zoletti, and Sam Levine. Mumford was Wellesley's top man in the Breaststroke event, while Zoletti and Levine worked in many different positions. All of the seniors did excellent jobs and were quite satisfied to see their team's performance by the end of the year.

Several underclassmen made valuable contributions this season. Doug Bennett worked the I. M. Relay, the 400-yard Relay team, and other events at different times. Skip Sullivan swam a lot of distance swimming in the 200 and 400-yard Freestyle races. Dwight Holmberg competed in the Breaststroke and I.M. events. Doug McNeish along with Bennett captured points in the state meet in the 100-yard Freestyle competition.

Diving was in the hands of Nutting and Kelly. Nutting scored well enough to earn points in the state meet.

Numerous other swimmers added points to the Wellesley totals during the season. John Filbin, Diego Saldariaga, Doug Kneale, and Ken Dingman all deserve recognition for their fine performances. Charlie Wallace, Grant Eustis, both regulars in their events, and Tim McLaran also did well.

Dave Patten placed fifth in the whole state in the 50-yard Freestyle race. Patten then combined with Sam Levine, Skip Sullivan, and Doug Bennett to put the 400-yard Freestyle Relay in fifth place in the state. As a whole, the team amassed 41 points which was good enough for an eleventh place ranking in Massachusetts.

BOYS' GYMNASTICS

Wellesley High gymnastics came up with another strong year to continue it's reputation as one of Wellesley's most consistent winning sports. Coach Will St. Cyr and Captains Bill Pierce and Tom Sullivan probably deserve most of the credit for the fine performance this year. The gymnasts finished with a six win three loss record which was good enough to take fourth place in a very tight Bay State League.

Bill Pierce proved to be the most valuable man for Wellesley this year. He competed as an all around man which meant that he had to perform at least capably in all events. Bill was one of the top three in the league as an all around man. His specialty was the High Bar where he often placed first in addition to winning the all around competition. In some meets, he was good enough to win even more than one of the regular events.

Besides Pierce, Tom Sullivan turned in an outstanding season. On the side horse Sully proved to be a consistent winner. He qualified for the State Individual meet as did Pierce.

Two other seniors poured in points for Wellesley this year. Scott McCabe and Phil Schirmer both performed above and beyond what could have been expected. Scott worked both the rings and the parallel bars. Phil turned into an outstanding performer this year in the floor exercise competition. In addition to floor exercise Phill did much of the vaulting for the Red Raiders.

Senior Brad Chandler was forced out of action early in the year with a chest injury. This and an injury to underclassman Jack Leonard made things tough. Other underclassmen who saw action were Jim Russell on High Bar, and Floor exercise, Doug Clement and George Hewitt.

Three Wellesley gymnasts gained further recognition in the Massachusetts individual meet. Pierce placed ninth in the all around field. Tedesco, an underclassman, pulled off a fourth place finish on the side horse. In the floor exercise competition, Schirmer tied for fifth.

The Girls' Gymnastic Team came up with another strong effort this year. Under their coach, Miss Perry, the gym team rolled to another victorious season. Several girls performed outstandingly, while all the others did an excellent job. The team got to a great start. They won their first four meets before losing a tough one. They came back though and finished the season with a strong showing in their final meets.

The loss of senior star Julie McVicker to illness was an unavoidable misfortune. Julie's absence probably cost the team some valuable points because she usually scored quite well. However, the other captains Amy Stewart and Nancy Parry worked especially hard to fill the gap. Amy in particular developed into quite a fine performer on many different pieces. Nancy also is a versatile performer and a team leader.

Many other girls have added important contributions to the team's fine performances. Bonnie Buckley, Martha Roth, and Robin Shetler all were very important members of the team. Mary Cuniff and Debby Kelsh also must be noted for the fine work that they did.

Quite a few Wellesley girls were able to qualify for the state meet this year. Amy Stewart, Kathy White, and Kim McKuen all worked hard enough and scored well enough to earn the right to participate in the state meet. These girls should all do well and represent Wellesley quite well.

SKI TEAM

Two individuals, Dave Ferris and Rosie Pendorf, led the ski team to another strong season. These two had a fine supporting cast, but they ranked as the two skiers for Wellesley. Both of these racers were rated among the very best in the league. The only complaint that the team had was the fact that this winter was very poor in regard to snow.

The boys had a pretty well balanced squad behind Dave Ferris. Ben Ferris, Dave's younger brother, totaled the second highest number of points for the ski team. Gary Powell was another sophomore who helped out. Juniors Jim Edgerly and Roger Hoffman should form a pretty good nucleus after their strong showing this season. Edgerly was third in racking up points for Wellesley. Dan Costa, a senior, was also part of that top six in the alpine racing, while Jeff Dosdall gained some cross-country.

Ferris, at one time, was the top skier in the league but was forced to miss a meet due to an injury. He had a couple of seconds and a fifth. His performance was one of the key factors in putting Wellesley in the third spot in the league standings.

Rosie Pendorf was by far the top racer for the girls' half of the squad. She was strong in both the cross-country and alpine competition, and was really outstanding for her fine times.

Behind her were several other fine races. Salli Grimes was second in hauling in the points for Wellesley. Ellen Walters also turned out to be a good point-getter for the skiers. Kerry Smyth and Holly Whitla plus Kathy Murray have captured many valuable points during the season.

Mrs. Mary White coached the skiers. Due to the lack of snow, there was only four alpine races and one cross-country race.

SCIENCE CLUB

This year the Science Club is one of the most active clubs in the school. The club's activities included a number of speakers who came to the school, and a large assortment of field trips.

Our first field trip this year went to the new Boston Aquarium. Some of the other field trips inculded visits to Carling brewery, and Massachusetts General Hospital. Several of the students gave talks on scuba diving, which were most informative for all those who were present. We also were able to have a speaker come in and talk about the field of electronics.

CONSERVATION CLUB

The Conservation Club, a new club in the High School this year, is concerned with environmental problems, particularly Wellesley's. The issue concerning the Albion Road and Rocky Ledges land swap has occupied the club's thoughts thus far. To enrich discussions, the clubs had guest speakers such as Mr. Warren Little, chairman of the Wellesley Conservation Commission and Mr. Jerome Powell, a Wellesley resident.

AVIATION CLUB

The newly formed Aviation Club was a valuable experience for its members. Mrs. Kunica, along with Mr. Souttes, both Wellesley residents with a great deal of experience and interest in flying, started the club and kept it active with a trip to Norwood Airport and lectures from visiting aviation professionals. A ground school course was also given, which helped the students to prepare for the written exam, which is the first step in obtaining a solo license.

CHESS CLUB

The Chess Club is open to all students who enjoy chess, whether they are experienced players seeking competition, or beginners desiring to learn the game.

If there are enough strong players, the club joins a league comprised of teams from surrounding towns. Wellesley has usually fared well in this league.

Don King, Brad Malt, Robert Archibald.

RADIO CLUB

The Radio Club is composed mainly of people interested in obtaining an amateur radio operator's license through instructions in the Morse code and theory, members soon are able to receive their license which will enable them to get a station on the air. The members also maintain a station with the call sign WAIDUL, which can be used during and after school. This station has communicated with countries as far away as Australia.

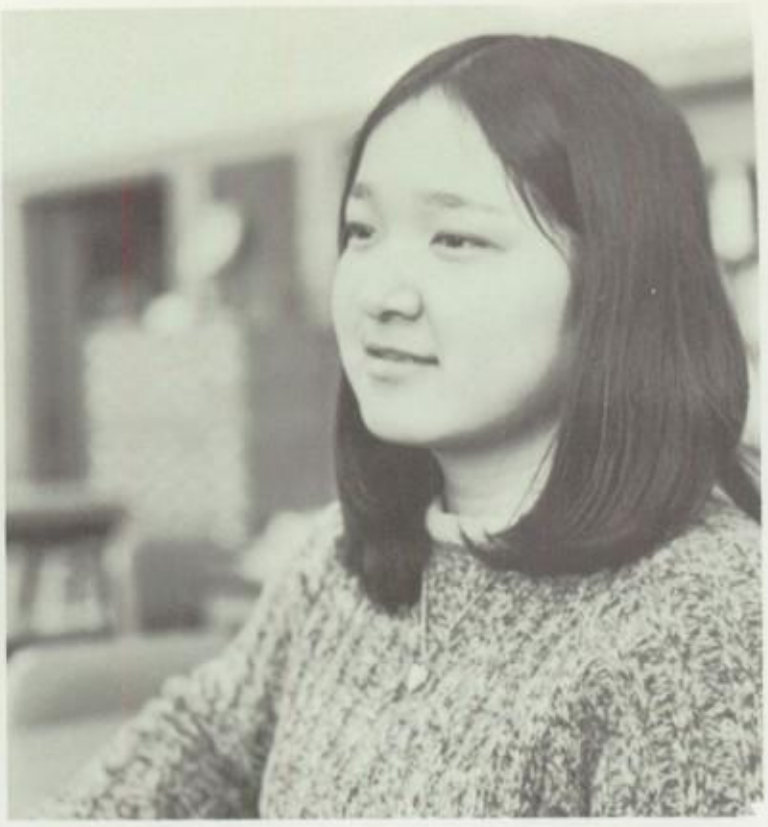
AMERICAN FIELD SERVICE



Junko Kanamura—A.F.S. Exchange Student from Japan.

The High School A.F.S. Club is part of a local chapter of the international A.F.S. exchange program. This program was founded to aid the advancement of world brotherhood and understanding by giving young people from all over the world an opportunity to live in a foreign country for a year or a summer. This year Wellesley hosts two A.F.S. exchange students, one from Japan and another from Germany. The High School A.F.S. Club serves to help these foreign students make friends and become part of the High School community.

In addition the club is a source of Wellesley High students who wish to participate in the Americans Abroad program of the A.F.S. Each year, it is possible for two Wellesley students to spend time with a host family overseas.

The club helps support these students financially and is therefore engaged in money making projects, sponsoring dances, bake sales, and selling Christmas cards. But the important function is to provide the foreign student with a group of Wellesley students who will help them become accustomed to living in a strange country.

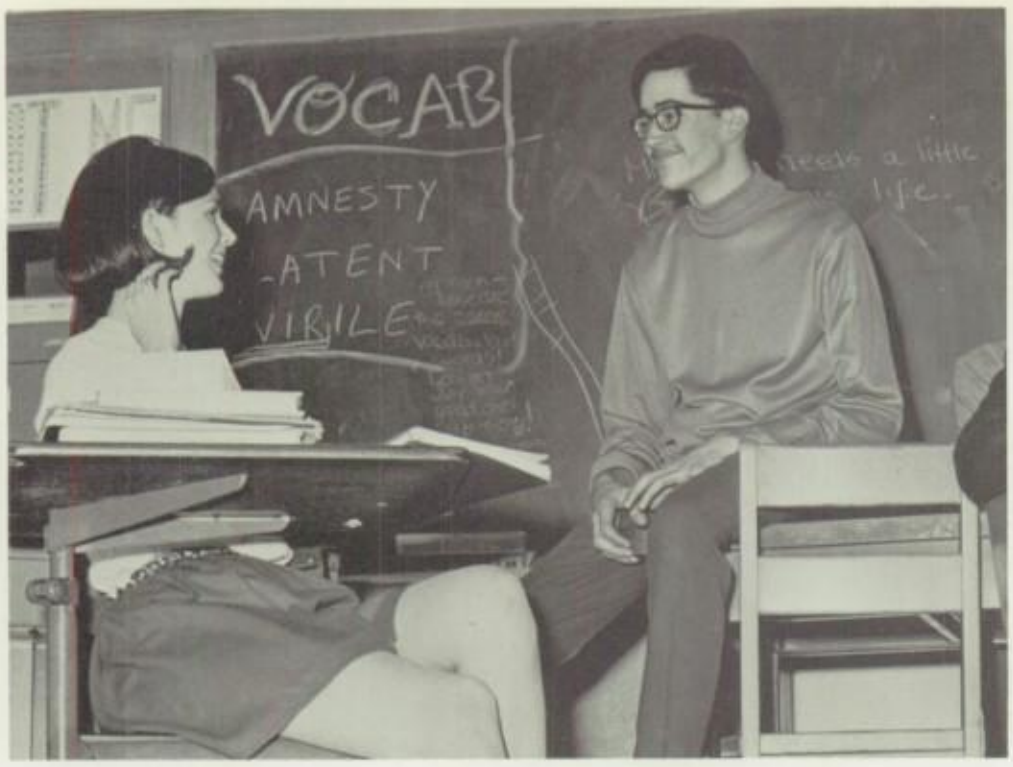
NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

President Andrew Chester

Membership in the National Honor Society is limited to fifteen percent of the Senior Class and five percent of the Junior Class. Members are chosen on the basis of character, scholarship, leadership, and service.

This year, students in the Wellesley, Chapter worked hard to realize the potential of the Society and to fulfill all their obligations. The Society undertook a project known as "The Student Interest Survey." The results of this were used to locate students in the high school who may be called upon to act as resources in the classroom, or as seminar leaders. Members offered their services as tutors for other students during study halls and before and after school. Through the Foster Parent Plan, they also supported a South Vietnamese orphan, Nguyen Van Tho by sending him a monthly cash grant, clothing, medicine, and a Christmas gift.



Liz Healy and Thom Holiday.

Bradford Advisor—Mr. Morin.

BRADFORD

The Bradford began the year hoping to provide a meaningful medium for communication with the school. For the first time, The Bradford's role as the only school newspaper was to be augmented by a weekly publication—The Missing Link. With the competition in mind (although all traces of rivalry were repeatedly denied) The Bradford opened its new year by expanding the first issue an additional two pages and by winning, for the second consecutive year, the distinguished Award of Highest Achievement of the New England Sholastic Press Association.

A recurring problem was the attempt to make The Bradford truly representative by printing material submitted by as many students as possible. With The Missing Link relieving much of The Bradford's old duties in reporting, The Bradford found its focus switching to an attempt to include more subjective articles, in-depth looks at aspects affecting the school, and to expand from a merely journalistic to a literary medium. Plans began to form for a completely new approach to the problem of communication presented in retaining the traditional high school newspaper in favor of a more relevant and more meaningful format. Thus this year marked the end of the old Bradford in its traditional form, as next year The Bradford hopes to attempt a more flexible, magazine style lay-out to fulfill the needs of the changing high school environment.

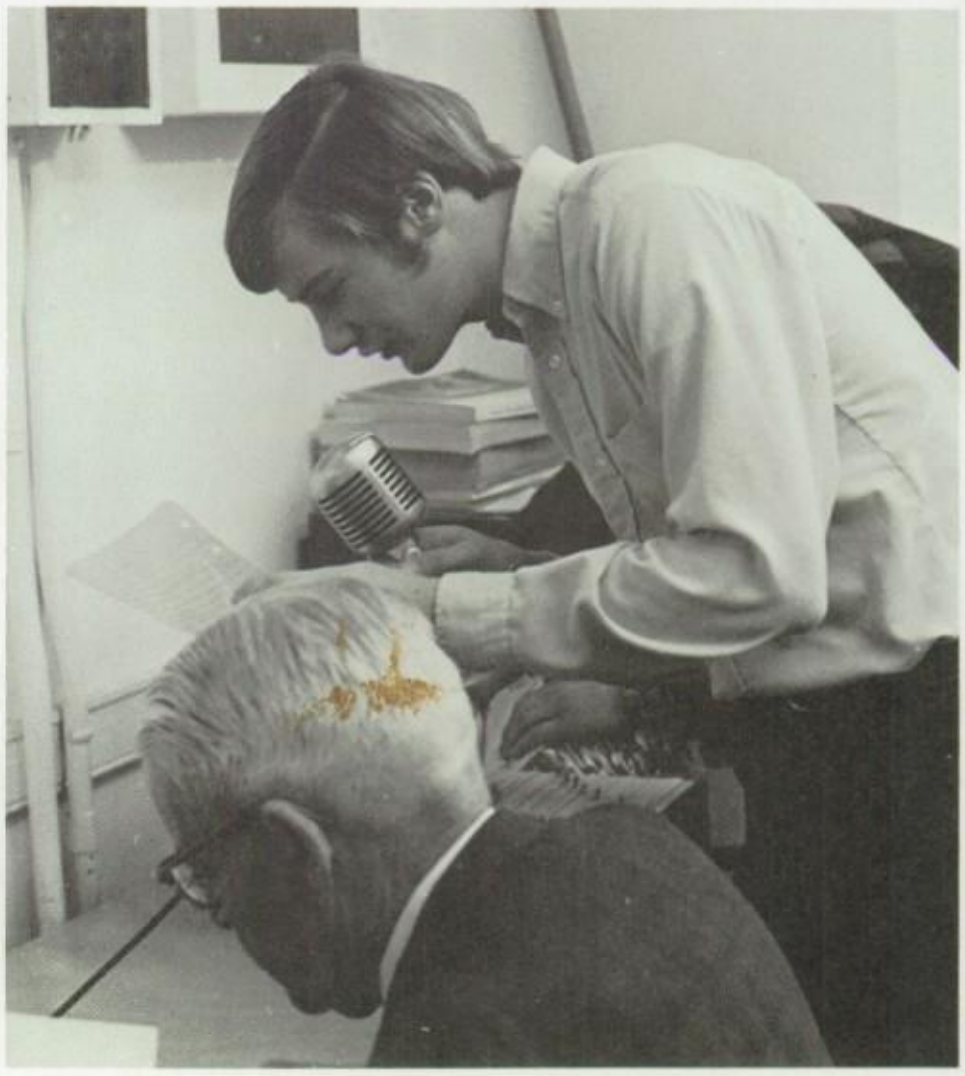
MISSING LINK

Every year, many new things come on the scene at Wellesley High; The Missing Link, a weekly newspaper, was among this year's innovations.

The idea of a "Link" first came about during the spring and summer of 1969, when it was realized that the BRADFORD could not come out often enough (due to publishing deadlines, etc.) to satisfy the needs of the school in the areas of immediate news and communication among all members of Wellesley High's family. After talking to Mr. Graves, Mr. Vasaturo and Mr. Carbone, editor Jim Parker called the Link's first meeting. The Missing Link had no advisor and remained a student-run publication.

During the second week of school, the first Missing Link appeared, with very few people knowing what to expect. From then on the Link was a self-supporting weekly newspaper. The staff worked into the night in the back of Room 109, which is where the mimeograph machine is located, and came to school as early as eight o'clock during a vacation week to get the issue out on time. Next year, the Link will undoubtedly continue, benefitting from the experience of this year, and hopefully contributing more to the Wellesley High Scene, helping it grow.



STYLUS

The seventh year of STYLUS publication stressed student envolvement for a greater development of the magazine. Student talent expressed in short stories, poetry, art work, essays, and for the first time, photography came from a wide range of Wellesley High School students.

With Whitney Cranshaw as business editor, the STYLUS flourished financially and published two issues. Joanne Ford as well as contributing art work herself, coordinated an art staff for illustrating the magazine. A new type of offset printing and a variety in creative styles improved the effectiveness of the STYLUS. A realm of literary exchange was opened up as the STYLUS staff discussed literature and the work of its own members.

WELLESLEYAN

As with any publication done by students, there is a great deal of work which must be done by people who are inexperienced in this area. The 1970 Wellesleyan staff was far from any exception. Only because of the help extended to us from teachers, administration, Westwood Studio, Taylor Publishing and a host of fellow students was the Yearbook able to recover from the shock of switching from a summer to a spring book.

To all the people who helped make this book possible, we wish to extend our appreciation and thanks.

SOPHOMORE CLASS

The Sophomore Class elections, held early in the year, were greatly hampered by the lack of candidates seeking office. However, the final four elected, Jeff Beach, president; Brian Youn g, vice-president; Jean Niven, secretary; and Betsy Palmer, treasurer; proved early to be not only a capable and experienced group, but also sincere and anxious to produce more for their class than the usual spring dance.

Early fall was devoted to planning a tentative schedule of activities, using the many good suggestions of their classmates and adviser, Mr. Donald Campbell. In November, the officers sponsored a very successful bake sale. However, a good portion of the profits was invested in Christmas decorations for the school. The officers, assisted by a group of classmates, labored many hours on this project, only to see their efforts go down the drain when the catwalk windows, decorated with glass wax, were turned into grafitti boards by several mischievous students. As a result of these shenanigans, the officers and the janitors were ordered to thoroughly clean the windows. After the holidays, the officers bounced back with a well organized and very succesful dues drive.

JUNIOR CLASS

The Junior Class started its year enthusiastically with an all-out dues drive, which raised the treasury contents to over one thousand dollars. The class had plans for selling candied apples at the Veteran's Day Parade, but the parade was rained out. Luckily, during seminars, we managed to sell most of the apples to the students. A bake sale was held just before Thanksgiving at the First National Store, and it was very successful. These activities added four hundred dollars to the treasury. Before Christmas students were offered the chance to have their picture taken with Santa Claus. If success can be measured by class spirit, this project was great! Both Mr. Burgess as Santa and Mrs. Bretholz as an elf helped this endeavor greatly. In the spring the class held a square dance, which was a new experience for Wellesley High School.

This year, as in the past, the primary function of the Senior Class Officers and Senior Council has been to raise money for The Class' graduating activities. The members of the Senior Council were selected on the basis of their diversity of character and their willingless to work a shown in previous years. The duties of the Council members were to, with the officers, formulate plans for activities that would be the most worthwhile, supervise and organize committees, and arouse enthusiasm among their classmates to carry out these plans.

The major projects sponsored by the class this year include a dues, magazine and paper drive, bake sale, TV raffle, boy-girl basketball game, Gym Show, and The Coloring Book. Perhaps the greatest and most successful event of the entire year, however, was the Student-Faculty Dinner Dance. This Dance is an annual function co-sponsored by the Student Council and Senior Class. This year, however, innovated plans were made ... it was called "Club '70," and the atmosphere was romantic and exciting.

As a class, we have not only realized our monetary goal, but we have also learned how to work together. Only as a unit have we been successful and only because we were a unit will we become the most unique class of the new decade.

BART

One generation passeth away, and another generation cometh: but

The sun also ariseth, and the sun goeth down, and hasteth to his place where he arose.
